APU STORIES

APU Alumnus Risked His Life to Save Others

In October, Andre Johnson ('85) flew from Texas to Azusa, CA to share his powerful story with the APU Football team during Homecoming weekend. Johnson, a former prison guard, conveyed to the student athletes that he was thrown into a terrorizing situation when a California prison riot broke out. Andre had to make a heroic decision to risk his own life to save a female correctional officer, and help subside a riot that included over 100 inmates.

APU Alumni Serving the State of California

The Los Angeles Times recently featured Azusa Pacific University alumni and sisters, Blanca ('99) and Susan Rubio ('03). The article detailed the Rubio's story from being deported as children to becoming U.S. citizens. They are also the first sisters in California history to serve in the state legislature.

In 2016, Blanca Rubio was elected as an Assemblywoman representing the 48th District, which includes more than 15 cities and rural areas in the San Gabriel Valley. She selected Azusa Pacific University as the site of her swearing-in ceremony due to the university's major impact on her life.

ALUMNI EVENT HIGHLIGHTS

APU Alumni cheer on LA Rams and Seattle Seahawks

On Sunday, December 8th, a group of alumni cheered on the Los Angeles Rams and Seattle Seahawks for the Sunday Night National Football League game. Prior to Kickoff, APU alumni met former Rams player and APU alumnus, Jackie Slater. ('14) Mr. Slater discussed playing in the NFL, the value of his APU master's degree, and how his faith has influenced his journey. After the game, alumni also connected with Seattle Seahawks quarterbacks coach and APU alumnus, Dave Canales ('03) who spoke about his professional career.

APU Los Angeles Korean Chapter Reunion

On December 16, 2019, Azusa Pacific University held an annual Year-End gathering and the APU Los Angeles Korean Alumni Chapter. The group officially began around 1999 and has consistently gathered to support and celebrate their affinity for APU. The most recent gathering was held at the New Life Vision Church in Los Angeles and included approximately 110 alumni and family members. The program consisted of singing praise songs, prayers for family, APU, the United States and the Korean Peninsula.
